7.1.10 Report on the student attributes facilitated by the Institution

Siddharth Institute of Engineering & Technology has worked to develop desirable attributes in students through code of conduct that helps them in personal and professional lives. The students are trained to value their worth and create a positive and productive atmosphere guided by a sense of responsibility in endorsing the institute's quality across various states and nations in which they work. To foster all round development of a student, there is a need to strike a balance between syllabi, curriculum, co-curricular and extracurricular activities. Co-curricular activities give the students an opportunity to develop particular skills and exhibit their non-academic abilities. Extracurricular activities offer the students an opportunity to work with others and gain essential life skills.

The student counselling process is carried out effectively to bind teachers and students in a relationship of cordiality and mutual trust which continues even after they pass out of the portals of this institute. The suggestion boxes present in the institute help in gathering student feedback which in turn help in qualitative implement of both the teaching process and infrastructural facilities. The dress code followed in the college helps in creating a sense of dignity and homogeneity among students.
